PROGRAM THEME: SERVICE SOCIOLOGY

“If each of us chooses some ... form of public service and puts himself thoroughly into it, things will go very well.”

“To investigate humanity for the purpose of service.” Emory S. Bogardus, motto of Alpha Kappa Delta (1920).

“The real question is, does our special expertise and information [as sociologists] give us a special obligation to act?”

During the past 61 years our Society, journal, and members have endeavored admirably, each in their own way, to promote social justice and solve social problems. But when it comes to the larger discipline of sociology, these goals have been largely neglected, and it hasn’t provided much of a framework for pursuing them. Thus, I propose an alternative sociology, one that I’m calling service sociology.

Service sociology is a sociology of social problems intended to ameliorate conditions of life for those in need of assistance, and to ensure and promote the welfare of the community. Motivated by care and compassion a service-oriented sociology is aimed at helping people meet their pressing social needs. As such, service sociology involves the application of sociological knowledge combined with the expression of humanitarian sentiment in neighborly service.

I mean the word “service” in two senses. The first meaning, which is pragmatic, refers to a variety of practices—aid-actions—that are informed by sociological knowledge. These aid-actions may be performed regularly, sporadically, or once-only, but they are intended, first and foremost, to address the social, physical, and/or psychological exigencies of individuals and communities. The second meaning of the term “service” is valuative and gets to the essence of our profession—a word that comes from the Latin meaning to declare one’s values openly. And the values of service sociology that motivate the aid-actions intended to alleviate and ameliorate social problems are those of justice, equality, and neighborliness.

Service, as an ethos and a practice, was once at the core of our discipline, particularly given the fact that early American sociology was primarily a reformist endeavor. The earliest forms of service sociology took root in the social gospel, settlement sociology, and charity sociology as practiced by, among others, Albion W. Small, Jane Addams, and Charles A. Ellwood.

The theme of service sociology will give us the opportunity to discuss various forms of, and opportunities for, implementing aid-actions: from providing charity to rendering humanitarian relief; from community organizing to social planning; from civic engagement and volunteerism to philanthropy.

In considering anew the recurrent question, Sociology for whom?, the co-founder of SSSP, Alfred McClung Lee, wisely stated that we should respond in this manner: Sociology for the service of humanity. “This answer,” said Lee, “refers to the need to develop knowledge of direct service to people as citizens, as consumers, and as neighbors.” Let us once again, at the 2011 meetings of SSSP, consider a sociology for the service of humanity.

Welcome to the City!

Since learning of ASA’s, and subsequently SSSP’s, decision to move the Annual Meetings from Chicago to Las Vegas, I have heard diverse reactions from colleagues across the country, ranging from pure excitement and anticipation to confusion and antipathy. Regardless of your initial reactions to this year’s meeting location, by the end of your stay here, I think you will find Las Vegas to be both sociologically and personally fascinating.

As the epicenter of the U.S. unemployment and foreclosure crises, over the past three years we have seen that “what happens in Vegas” most certainly does not stay here. Las Vegas is the perfect sociological laboratory because it is a microcosm of the nation’s social, economic, and political problems that sociologists discuss and debate daily. As the cliché goes, Las Vegas went from boom to bust over the course of just one decade. Once the fastest growing city in America, population growth in Las Vegas has halted. Nevada now tops the country in unemployment, foreclosures, and negative home equity. The population slowdown, reduction in tourism, and years of bad state budget planning have led to draconian cuts in public education and social service funding. In fact, at the time of this writing, the University of Nevada Las Vegas is considering a declaration of financial exigency that would effectively pronounce the university bankrupt, remove all faculty tenure protections, eliminate entire academic departments, and prevent students from completing their degrees.

Just a few miles from the glitz, glamour, and $15 martinis of the “Strip” lays a 200 mile labyrinth of flood tunnels that shelter Las Vegas’ homeless population. Indeed, Las Vegas is a paradoxical city. While boasting some of the strongest labor unions and civil liberties organizations in the country, questions of exploitation vs. empowerment are limitless here. You will get to experience these issues firsthand as you walk on the area of the Strip immediately in front of Harrah’s. Beginning late afternoon through early morning, groups of Hispanic immigrants (sometimes undocumented) pass out “call girl” cards, and you will most likely enter ASA’s conference casino, Caesars Palace, to find pole dancers entertaining the blackjack players. Like no other conference city before, your sociological imaginations should run wild here!

The contradictions do not stop with our economy. Although Las Vegas is viewed as a city of excess gambling, sexuality, consumption, and sin, the areas surrounding the city offer some of the most natural, beautiful, and calming experiences in the country. While we encourage you to attend the vast array of conference sessions, there is an unlimited supply of leisure options for you to enjoy outside of the conference. In the “Welcome to the City Graduate Student Version,” Allyson Hallam provided a number of suggestions, so I encourage you to read her “Welcome,” as well. Rather than listing the multitude of options available to you on the Strip, I will add some information about a few often unknown and underutilized opportunities in the immediate area.

The desert is hot, especially in August! To cool down, rent a car, and head 35 miles north of Las Vegas to Mt. Charleston. During the summer, Mt. Charleston is 30 degrees cooler than Las Vegas and offers picnicking, hiking, and horseback riding. Here you can experience relaxation in the fresh air, mountain breezes, vegetation, and wildlife that is non-existent in the city. http://www.vegas.com/attractions/outside_lasvegas/mountcharleston.html. Similarly, Lake Mead is a national recreation area that offers boating, swimming, hiking, kayaking, canoeing, and wildlife viewing. Depending on your desired destination, Lake Mead is about a 30 mile drive from Las Vegas http://www.nps.gov/lake/planyourvisit/things2do.htm. Outdoor adventurers may also wish to see the Hoover Dam. Located 30 miles Southeast of Las Vegas, options include dam and power plant tours http://www.usbr.gov/lc/hooverdam/service/index.html.

For the historically and culturally minded, The Atomic Testing Museum, located just minutes from the Strip, documents the history of nuclear testing in the desert north’s Nevada Test Site. Exhibits feature atomic blast simulations, Native American artifacts, popular culture memorabilia, testing equipment, and more. Tickets for adults are just $12.00. For more information, visit their website at http://www.atomictestingmuseum.org/index.asp. You can also learn more about the Nevada Test Site through the University of Nevada, Las Vegas’ Nevada Test Site Oral History Project http://digital.library.unlv.edu/ntsohp/.

Las Vegas Springs Preserve is a cultural and historical attraction located just about 5 miles from Harrah’s. The Preserves feature interpretive trails and exhibits, desert creatures, a gardens center, cooking demonstrations using herbs grown on the premises, walking trails, museums, and sustainability in action. Public transportation is available from the Strip at the Flamingo Road, Sahara Ave, and Tropicana Ave bus stop locations.

For those of you with a sociological interest in Nevada’s Sex Industry, several brothels offer informational tours apart from the sale of sex. Although prostitution is illegal within the Las Vegas city limits, the town of Pahrump, located 62 miles east of the city, is the home to the world famous state-licensed Chicken Ranch and Sheri’s Ranch. Many visitors to Las Vegas rent cars and take a driving tour of the area’s brothels. For more information on Nevada’s Legal brothels, visit the Chamber of Commerce’s website at http://www.sincitychamberofcommerce.com/nevada_brothels.htm.

Although Las Vegas is not home to any major sporting teams, we are fortunate to have the AAA baseball team of the Toronto Blue Jays – the Las Vegas 51s. The 51s will be in town during the weekend of the conference, and I encourage you to take in a game. Cashman Field is located north of the Strip just past the Fremont Street Experience. Tickets are cheap, and promotions often include $1 beer and food items.

Finally, if you wish to stay on the Strip, the Fountains of Bellagio, Mirage Volcano, “Sirens of TI” at Treasure Island, MGM Lion Habitat, Rollercoaster at New York New York, and Medieval Acts at Excalibur are all popular among visitors. The artistically oriented will be interested in the CityCenter Fine Art Collection inside the Aria Resort and Casino.

More information about the sights and sounds of Las Vegas is available on the Chamber of Commerce website. http://www.sincitychamberofcommerce.com/las_vegas_visitors_guide.htm. We hope you have a great conference experience and leave Las Vegas feeling sociologically and personally fulfilled!

Welcome to Las Vegas! The Graduate Student Version

Welcome to Las Vegas! For those of you who have never been to Las Vegas before, what you will come to find is that this city allows you access to any food, entertainment, or sightseeing experience you could desire. The city does come with a reputation, but I am sure you will see that it also has its charming side. As the summer fades, I would like to take this time to remind you all that this is a very hot desert and you must remember to stay hydrated and cool while you are here. It can get quite hot this time of the year!

I have lived in Las Vegas for just over 12 years. With that comes a little expertise about what to expect from this city. A major attraction of the city is its nightlife, but there are plenty of outdoor recreational activities, dining experiences, and shopping centers. The hodgepodge of themes provided by the infamous “Strip” attempts to recreate different times in history as well as different countries around the world and will give you plenty of experiences to take in during your stay here. The “Strip” is the central focus of Las Vegas and runs about 4 miles along Las Vegas Boulevard. Harrah’s, the site of the 2011 meeting, is in the middle of the Strip.

The “Strip” is a very pedestrian friendly part of town, but for those not wanting to make the whole trek at one time, Las Vegas does offer a variety of transportation options. The most convenient is the taxi service. Every hotel and casino will have at least one taxi stand where someone will match you up with a car and driver to take you where you need to go. Another option would be the public transportation system. Commonly referred to as “The Deuce,” this double decker bus runs between 12 and 30 minutes at each stop and will take you from Downtown Las Vegas to the South Strip transfer station near McCarran Airport. You can purchase an unlimited day pass on this bus for $7.00. Another route, called the “Gold Line,” runs from the South Strip transfer station to a shopping center “city within a city,” called Town Square. This bus also has an unlimited day pass for $7.00. The last transportation option includes a monorail that runs from the MGM Grand north to the Sahara hotel and casino. The price of the monorail is $5.00 each way. There is also a free tram that runs between the Mandalay Bay and Excalibur.

Las Vegas has a wide array of activities and attractions for both day and night. If you have some free time during the day and would like to see the largest aquarium in Las Vegas, you can visit the Mandalay Bay’s Shark Reef. It is home to over 2,000 different types of animals. For another interesting attraction you can visit the Bellagio’s Conservatory and Botanical Gardens. This attraction changes with the seasons and features four different experiences depending on the time of year you are visiting. This is a free attraction that allows you to walk through at your own pace and look at all of the different plants, flowers, and trees. Las Vegas also offers more shopping opportunities than most other cities in the country. The Fashion Show Mall, one of the most expansive malls in Las Vegas, is at the north end of the Strip just past Treasure Island. The mall features designer and casual stores, modeling catwalks, and trendy restaurants. The Miracle Mile Shops at Planet Hollywood is another great place to spend an afternoon browsing. You could also catch a cab or take one of the several buses along the Strip and head to the Las Vegas Premium Outlets on South Grand Central Parkway. This outlet mall offers 150 designer and casual stores and is very popular with tourists and locals alike.

Las Vegas is also very well known for its nightlife options. Whether you are looking for a quiet lounge to have a drink or a place to dance and enjoy your night, Las Vegas has something to offer every taste. For a chilling experience you can purchase drinks and hang out in one of the coldest bars in Las Vegas.

Attendees looking for a little adventure can head to the Stratosphere, which has three exciting rides at the very top level of the hotel. For something a little closer to the ground, the Fremont Street Experience is a seven-block open air pedestrian mall featuring live bands, street performers and impersonators, a graphic lightshow, and a zip line that will have you gliding above everybody’s head from end to end. Finally, the Circus Circus casino features an entire indoor theme park, complete with a rollercoaster. The Adventuredome provides traditional circus games for any of you looking to take home a souvenir.

Las Vegas has a lot to offer anyone coming to visit. These conferences can be academically and mentally tiring, as well as stimulating and exciting. Do not forget to take a little time to enjoy your surroundings. Las Vegas will provide you with almost any experience and a few stories to take home with you. We are so glad to have you here and hope you have the best experience in our city as possible!

Continue heading south until you reach Caesars Palace Dr. Cross Las Vegas Blvd. There are several entrances into Caesars Palace. The skywalk entrance is the easiest and most direct but is not wheelchair accessible. The most direct wheelchair accessible route is to follow the cobblestone walkway around the taxi cab drop off area. You will come to a wheelchair ramp in this taxi cab drop off area that will take you up to the doors to enter Caesars.

For Guests Staying in the Carnaval Tower. From the hotel lobby level of Carnaval Tower elevator, turn right and go past Starbucks, the Café at Harrah’s, and Ming’s Table restaurant. You will see the Mardi Gras Tower elevators on your right. From there, simply follow the directions above.

To ASA Convention Center inside Caesars Palace. If you enter Caesars Palace using the skywalk entrance, walk past Mesa’s Grill on the left and veer left into “Cleopatra’s Way.” From there, follow the signs to the Conference Center. An escalator will take you up to the conference rooms.

Wheelchair Accessible Route up to Conference Center. If you enter Caesars Palace using the wheelchair accessible route, you will need to go through the “Palace Casino.” As you enter the “Palace Casino,” turn right, but do not enter “Cleopatra’s Way.” Instead, veer left to take the pathway toward the Conference Center. Continue past the escalators that lead up to the Conference Center, and take a left to the “Palace Towers.” Use the elevator on the right for “Palace Towers 5-7”.

PART II. Annual Meeting Events

Divisional Meetings – Door Prize

In appreciation for attending one or more of our Divisional Meetings, members are invited to submit their door prize ticket to enter the pool from which one person will be selected to win a complimentary 2012 SSSP membership. Door prize tickets will be given during each divisional meeting. Members are responsible for filling out and placing their tickets in the door prize box, located by the exit door of each meeting room, for the final drawing. The winner will be notified after the annual meeting.

Welcoming Reception – Open to SSSP Members

All meeting registrants are invited to the Welcoming Reception on Thursday, August 18, to celebrate the opening of the 61st Annual Meeting. This social hour kicks off at 6:00pm (room: Cooper) and provides opportunities to renew past acquaintances, chat with old friends, and find a newcomer to befriend. New members and first-time meeting attendees are particularly encouraged to come and have fun.

New Member Breakfast

On Friday, August 19 from 7:15am – 8:15am (room: Reno), established SSSP members will host a continental breakfast, greeting, welcoming, and networking with new members. Enter the room with a “New Member” or “Host” ribbon on your SSSP name badge.

Graduate Student Meeting with the Student Board Representatives

Student Board Representatives Louis Edgar Esparza and Mandy Frake-Mistak would like to meet with all graduate students on Friday, August 19 from 8:30am – 10:10am (room: Goldfield). This will be an excellent opportunity for students to mingle and discuss any issues. The Graduate Student Happy Hour is scheduled later in the day from 10:00pm – 11:00pm (location: Toby Keith’s I Love This Bar & Grill). Complimentary drinks will be provided.

Accessibility Committee Informational Meeting

Plan to attend an informational meeting chaired by Deborah Little for those interested in or with concerns about the inclusion of people with disabilities in SSSP on Friday, August 19 from 2:30pm – 4:10pm (room: Parlor B).

Open Discussion of Resolutions Proposed to the SSSP Board of Directors

Plan to attend the open forum of discussion where resolutions will be presented for discussion among concerned members on Friday, August 19 from 2:30pm – 4:10pm (room: Goldfield). Each proposed resolution will be presented by the sponsoring Division’s Chairperson (or designated representative) and adequate time for discussion will be properly allotted to each. All Division Chairs should plan to participate in this session or designate a proxy from their division if unable to attend. This discussion session will serve in place of the meeting of the Resolutions Committee.

At the annual business meeting, the resolutions will be presented by Vice-President Carolyn Cummings Perrucci as a package for approval for action by the attending membership. The membership will vote on proposed resolutions that were discussed and revised on the first day of the meeting. If objections from the floor are raised to any specific resolution, that resolution can, by majority vote of those present, be singled out from the package, and voted on separately. Those present can either support the resolution for approval as proposed or decide to table the resolution for further discussion at the subsequent annual meeting.

Institutional Ethnography Workshop – Final Program

A day long institutional ethnography workshop is being held in conjunction with the SSSP meeting on Thursday, August 18 from 8:30am – 5:30pm at Harrah’s Las Vegas Hotel (room: Laughlin). Dorothy Smith along with members of the community of scholars she has influenced will be facilitating an interactive program. The program includes a discussion about the theoretical and historical evolution of the method. There will also be interactive “working” sessions to provide guidance for data collection and data analysis. The cost of the workshop is $100.

Morning (8:30am – 12:00pm)

Welcome: Kamini Maraj Grahame, IE Division Chair

Session One
Mapping and formulating a Problematic

Part One
Mapping as conceptual, as data collection and as analysis:
Alison Griffith [lead] with Lois Andre-Bechely, Laurie Clune, Lauri Grace, Dorothy Smith

Using Smith’s theory of cartography and IE as a practice of “mapping” Participants in this session will bring examples of any mapping work they have done – either polished or rough drafts. The maps will be displayed (rather like a poster session) at the beginning of the session and participants will be given the opportunity to describe their maps and how they worked with them.

Part Two
Formulating and holding onto a problematic:
Janet Rankin [lead] with Alison Griffith, Paul Luken

Afternoon (1:00pm – 3:30pm)

Session Two
Old Hand Questions – IE’s theoretical framework
Dorothy Smith [lead], with “The old hands” (TBA)

Questions and discussion about the sociology that informs IE

- Feminism – standpoint
- Marx – materiality; ideology
- Bakhtin – language and words
- Mead – symbolic interactionism
- Garfinkel – ethnomethodology
- Foucault – discourse

Afternoon (4:00pm – 5:30pm)

Session Three
Extending the range of IE thinking: Pushing boundaries
Marjorie DeVault [facilitator], Liza McCoy, Eric Mykhalovskiy, Lauren Eastwood, Paul Luken

Discuss the various “elements” of IE and how they have developed and changed over time. Consider how we could engage with IE, not only as a method, but a mode of inquiry focused on particular aspects of the social that could open up other possibilities (or not) for a range of projects that don’t always look like a “classic” IE.

This session will be formulated around the following questions:

- What are some of the different types of research that might spring from the basic ontology and orientation of this mode of inquiry?
- How can we support students who are drawn to IE/SOK and who are equally drawn to ANT and/or studies of governmentality?
- What are we reading and doing that is informing our thinking and research practice? How might that shape the ongoing development of IE?

Ain’t I a Person*
*with apologies to Sojourner Truth
(Film Screening and Discussion with Filmmaker)

During the past quarter century, a myth has developed that poor people are lazy and that providing them with government assistance leads to dependency and a lack of personal responsibility. The reality is very different. The poverty rate dropped sharply in response to the War on Poverty programs, only to level off in the late 1970s when those programs started getting cut back, and increasing through the Reagan-Bush era attacks on social welfare. The slight drop in the late-1990s has already disappeared, and the poverty rate has skyrocketed during the so-called Great Recession. The plight of the poor has just gotten worse. While the accepted wisdom now is that public interventions do not work, that is a myth: the reality is that they have and still could.

Our goals with this film project were two-fold: first, to dispel some of the myths that are now rampant about poverty; and, second, to bring a human face back to poverty.

What does it mean to be poor? For 2008, the Department of Health and Human Service guidelines were an income $21,200 or less for a family of four (say, a two-parent household and two children). For a single earner, someone would have to earn almost $10.00 an hour to be at the poverty threshold for a family of four, while the minimum wage here in Ohio was $7.00 an hour then. In reality, how many families could pay all their bills in a typical urban area on a gross income of $1,703 a month?

Even at the height of the AFDC program, only about one-third of those falling below the official poverty line received public assistance. The myth of “welfare queens” driving Cadillacs is firmly entrenched but has virtually nothing to do with reality. So who are the poor? For the most part, they are working and struggling to pay their bills. Many work more than one job out of necessity. They are the people we see as cashiers in stores, as receptionists and workers in offices. They are the people who clean buildings, who paint houses, who fix cars, who drive buses, and so on.

In order to bring back a sense of community and caring among people in this country, we need to put faces on those in poverty. We need to show the faces of people who are working but who cannot afford health insurance for their children. We need to show the faces of people who are working but cannot afford after-school programs for their children. We need to show the faces of people who mingle with the non-poor everyday – in stores, restaurants, schools, theaters, shopping malls – but who have become invisible.

The focus of this film is the stories of the poor (and near-poor) about how they manage their lives and families – finding decent housing, finding adequate jobs and pay, dealing with sick children and health problems, finding affordable and quality day care, dealing with the education of their children, getting help when needed – problems that most of us face in this society. How can we have empathy and compassion for the poor without being able to put ourselves into their shoes? (length: 144 minutes)

12:30pm – 2:10pm

The Insular Empire: America in the Mariana Islands

THE INSULAR EMPIRE is the first film to document the United States’ historical and ongoing role as a colonial power. Six thousand miles west of California, the Mariana Islands are American territory, but after generations of loyalty, the people of Guam and the Northern Marianas still remain second-class US citizens. Following the personal stories of four indigenous island leaders, this provocative film explores the history of American colonization in the Pacific. It is a moving story of loyalty and betrayal, about a patriotic island people struggling to find their place within the American political family.

2:30pm – 4:10pm

The Billionaire’s Tea Party: How Corporate America is Faking a Grassroots Revolution

In the summer of 2009, shortly after Barack Obama and a Democratic Congress swept to power promising a new era of hope and change, a citizens’ protest movement emerged out of nowhere threatening to derail their agenda. Some said this uprising was the epitome of grassroots democracy. Others said it was a classic example of ‘astroturfing’ – an elaborate corporate public relations effort designed to create the impression of a spontaneous uprising. Curious to find out for himself, Australian filmmaker Taki Oldham goes undercover into the heart of the movement. He visits raucous health care town hall meetings where irate voters parrot insurance industry PR; learns that home-grown “citizen groups” challenging the science behind climate change are funded by big oil companies; and infiltrates a tea party movement whose anti-government rage turns out to be less the product of populist rage than of corporate strategy. In the end, The Billionaire’s Tea Party offers a terrifying look at how corporate elites are exploiting the anxieties of ordinary Americans – capitalizing on anger, resentment, and paranoia to advance a narrow, often anti-democratic, agenda.

Description:
During the past quarter century, a myth has developed that poor people are lazy and that providing them with government assistance leads to dependency and a lack of personal responsibility. The reality is very different. The poverty rate dropped sharply in response to the War on Poverty programs, only to level off in the late 1970s when those programs started getting cut back, and increasing through the Reagan-Bush era attacks on social welfare. The slight drop in the late-1990s has already disappeared, and the poverty rate has skyrocketed during the so-called Great Recession. The plight of the poor has just gotten worse. While the accepted wisdom now is that public interventions do not work, that is a myth: the reality is that they have and still could.

Our goals with this film project were two-fold: first, to dispel some of the myths that are now rampant about poverty; and, second, to bring a human face back to poverty.

What does it mean to be poor? For 2008, the Department of Health and Human Service guidelines were an income $21,200 or less for a family of four (say, a two-parent household and two children). For a single earner, someone would have to earn almost $10.00 an hour to be at the poverty threshold for a family of four, while the minimum wage here in Ohio was $7.00 an hour then. In reality, how many families could pay all their bills in a typical urban area on a gross income of $1,703 a month?

Even at the height of the AFDC program, only about one-third of those falling below the official poverty line received public assistance. The myth of “welfare queens” driving Cadillacs is firmly entrenched but has virtually nothing to do with reality. So who are the poor? For the most part, they are working and struggling to pay their bills. Many work more than one job out of necessity. They are the people we see as cashiers in stores, as receptionists and workers in offices. They are the people who clean buildings, who paint houses, who fix cars, who drive buses, and so on.

In order to bring back a sense of community and caring among people in this country, we need to put faces on those in poverty. We need to show the faces of people who are working but who cannot afford health insurance for their children. We need to show the faces of people who are working but cannot afford after-school programs for their children. We need to show the faces of people who mingle with the non-poor everyday – in stores, restaurants, schools, theaters, shopping malls – but who have become invisible.

The focus of this film is the stories of the poor (and near-poor) about how they manage their lives and families – finding decent housing, finding adequate jobs and pay, dealing with sick children and health problems, finding affordable and quality day care, dealing with the education of their children, getting help when needed – problems that most of us face in this society. How can we have empathy and compassion for the poor without being able to put ourselves into their shoes?

Some said this uprising was the epitome of grassroots democracy. Others said it was a classic example of ‘astroturfing’ – an elaborate corporate public relations effort designed to create the impression of a spontaneous uprising. Curious to find out for himself, Australian filmmaker Taki Oldham goes undercover into the heart of the movement. He visits raucous health care town hall meetings where irate voters parrot insurance industry PR; learns that home-grown “citizen groups” challenging the science behind climate change are funded by big oil companies; and infiltrates a tea party movement whose anti-government rage turns out to be less the product of populist rage than of corporate strategy. In the end, The Billionaire’s Tea Party offers a terrifying look at how corporate elites are exploiting the anxieties of ordinary people.”

Engaging Social Justice
Critical Studies of Twenty-First Century Social Transformation
Edited by David Fasenfest
ISBN: 978-1-60846-124-0 • $28

The global economic collapse of 2008 has revealed the penetration of global capitalism and its impact on working people, north and south. In response, social movements have embarked on the goal of creating an alternative to the neoliberal policies that have immiserated generations. This title explores these new forms of struggle being practiced across the world.

Culture, Power, and History
Studies in Critical Sociology
Edited by Stephen Pfohl, Aimee Van Wagenen, Patricia Arend, Abigail Brooks, Denise Leckenby
ISBN: 978-1-60846-043-4 • $36

This volume brings together theoretical meditations and empirical studies of the intersection of culture, power and history in social life. New strategies for marketing and advertising to children, the production of gendered subjectivity in maquiladora factories, the racialized economic history of the construction of the Chicago School of sociology, and the normalization of cosmetic plastic surgery in contemporary America—these are some of the crossroads under investigation here, where cultural meanings and practices are set against historical landscapes of power.

Let’s face it, what we do is often depressing. The very name of our organization, The Society for the Study of Social Problems, is a downer! We spend a great deal of our time and energy gaining and sharing knowledge about discrimination, dysfunction, and destruction. Through our work, we seek to communicate the consequences of the injustices we examine and how current conditions might be changed for the better (and how to prevent problems in the first place). As participants in social-change-seeking activities or in social service work, we deal with the tenacity of oppressive institutionalized power dynamics. Typically, we don’t have the power, ourselves, to eliminate the problems we illuminate. Unfortunately, our solutions are often difficult to actualize because they are based on theoretical approaches (feminist, anti-racist, socialist, and queer, to name a few) that are viewed with scepticism in mainstream culture because they are antithetical to the pernicious systems we work against. And, to make matters all that much more frustrating, we, ourselves, may perpetuate many of the same inegalitarian power dynamics we deplore and resist elsewhere – in our own workplaces, homes, and organizations. All of this is depressing.

But we are not ourselves depressed – not particularly as individuals, and certainly not as a group. Each year we come together, focus our efforts on systems of interwoven social problems, enjoy each other’s company, learn and grow together. We are imaginative and innovative. Being together allows us to learn from and build on each other’s creativities.

This year, let us celebrate a crucial part of what initially brought the SSSP into existence in 1951: the art of activism. By focusing on the myriad intersections between art and activism, I mean to encourage the sharing of work that explores the creative spirit in activism as well as the sociopolitical power of art.

Art and activism are both situational, relying always on history, context, and interpretation for their meaning. Howard S. Becker presents a view of art as the result of patterned, coordinated, ever-changing social interaction, rather than inherent in or emergent from idiosyncratic genius or talent. The meaning of art, thus, cannot be limited to aesthetic or meritocratic considerations, which also result from social interactions. Becker’s approach also applies to activist and academic endeavors. Through our organizing, scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and community service, we are participant-observers in a variety of forms of activism and of artistry.

Art and activism both:

- Emerge out of creative, passionate impulses;
- Involve transgression, challenging conventions, and making meaning in ways that are emotionally evocative and intellectually provocative;
- Have the potential to transform worldviews, social practices, and power dynamics;
- Have the ability to impel momentous connections between the many people who rail against multiple machines in pursuit of a variety of forms of social justice.

Let us consider art and activism – and our role as practitioners in both cultural arenas.

See you in Denver!
