Sustainable Development in Montreal

WHEREAS the City of Montreal developed “Montreal’s First Strategic Plan for Sustainable Development” in 2003, encouraged partnerships with community organizations to promote sustainable development, and made a commitment to consider innovative solutions to newly emerging environmental problems; AND

WHEREAS the recent auditor general’s report noted setbacks in efforts to meet recycling targets as well as significant concerns about the slow permitting and authorization processes and lack of monitoring of industrial waste releases into the air and sewers,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the SSSP commends the City of Montreal on its efforts to promote sustainable development through the involvement of community partnerships and innovative solutions, encourages continued commitment to sustainable development to address newly emerging environmental concerns in spite of setbacks and requests that SSSP write on behalf of the membership to representatives of the City of Montreal to express this commendation and encourage continued commitment to issues of sustainability.

Resolution #3

From: Sexual Behavior, Politics, and Communities Division

Whereas, we affirm support for the declaration of sexual rights as constructed by the World Association for Sexuality, in which all human beings are entitled to the following sexual rights: the right to sexual freedom, sexual autonomy, sexual privacy, sexual equality, emotional sexual expression, sexual education, sexual health care, to sexually associate freely and make responsible choices,

Therefore, be it resolved that the SSSP recognizes the sexual rights of all people as long as sexual behavior does not infringe on the rights of other humans or non-human animals.

Resolution #4

From: Global Division

Resolution in support of an immediate and enduring cessation of hostilities in Lebanon:

Whereas the recent violence in the Lebanon has escalated beyond all prior imaginable proportions; and

Whereas the SSSP membership supports a peaceful and political solution as an alternative to armed conflicts;

Whereas US policies continue to provide support to the Israeli military establishment;

Whereas considerable evidence exists that war crimes have been committed by the Israeli armed forces (IDF) and other armed parties to the conflict;

Whereas civilians and United Nations Forces have been repeatedly hit by Israeli retaliatory actions without adequate safeguards to protect Lebanese and other civilians;

Be it therefore resolved that the SSSP:

Urges the U.S. government to join other countries who call for an immediate, unconditional, and enduring ceasefire by all parties;

Implores the United States government to not obstruct ongoing United Nations inquiries into the human rights conduct of any of the armed parties; and to that effect,

We hereby direct the SSSP Board of Directors to communicate these sentiments in a letter to Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, the White House, and the leaders of both Houses.

Resolution #5

From: Institutional Ethnography Division

Whereas the Sacred Lands of First Nations in Canada and Indigenous Peoples around the globe are under threat from development and other destructive activities;

Whereas, increasing the understanding and recognition of sacred lands is a human rights issue.

Therefore, be it resolved that the SSSP:

1. Condemns the destruction of what are considered the sacred lands of First Nations in Canada and Indigenous Peoples around the globe,
2. Supports the continuance and preservation of First Nations and Indigenous Peoples' cultural and spiritual practices which are closely tied to land areas known to be sacred to them.

Resolution #6

From: Institutional Ethnography Division

Whereas today many governments practice torture and other cruel, inhumane, or degrading treatment or punishment, thereby making torture a global problem, and

Whereas “extraordinary rendition,” a practice by which detainees are transferred to other countries where they will most certainly be tortured, is part of the global mechanism of torture, and

Whereas torture and “extraordinary rendition” are violations of international law, and

Whereas there have been recent cases when medical and psychological scientists and practitioners have abetted the practice of torture in cooperation with governments,

Now, therefore be it resolved that the SSSP:

6. Condemns the world-wide practice of torture, and
7. Specifically condemns the practice of and support for torture by world governments, and
8. Calls on all members of SSSP to stand up for and support colleagues who resist the use of social science knowledge and skills in the practice of torture.
