RACE, ETHNICITY, AND THE CONTINUING PROBLEM OF THE COLOR LINE

In 1903 W. E. B. DuBois famously wrote, “The problem of the twentieth century is the problem of the color line.” More than one hundred years have passed since his prophetic statement, yet the color line remains a major problem of the twenty-first century.

Racial and ethnic inequality permeates American society and expresses itself through the many social problems studied by SSSP members. To mention just a few familiar examples, people of color are more likely to live in poverty, to receive poor health care, to live in areas with air and water pollution problems, and to be arrested and imprisoned. Racial and ethnic prejudice and stereotyping also remain widespread even if they are less extreme than in decades past. In the 2006 General Social Survey, almost half of non-Latino whites agreed that “most blacks just don’t have the motivation or will power to pull themselves out of poverty,” and one-fifth of whites opposed a close relative marrying an Asian American. Almost 60 percent of respondents in a 2007 Gallup Poll thought that immigrants to the United States are worsening the crime problem. And almost one-fourth of respondents in a 2006 Gallup Poll said they would not want to have a Muslim as a neighbor, while 39 percent admitted being prejudiced against Muslims. Other Gallup evidence shows that people of color are less satisfied than non-Latino whites with their lives and more likely to perceive that racial and ethnic discrimination exists in education, the workplace, and other areas.

About fifty years ago the civil rights movement put racial segregation on the national agenda, and that movement and later efforts succeeded in weakening the color line. Yet racial and ethnic inequality persists while most of the nation turns a blind eye by forgetting about it, by pretending it simply does not exist, or by blaming people of color for the inequality they suffer.

The theme of the 2009 annual meeting, “Race, Ethnicity, and the Continuing Problem of the Color Line,” will afford SSSP members the opportunity to discuss the place of race and ethnicity in the United States and to rededicate ourselves to addressing racial and ethnic issues in our professional work, political and social activism, and daily lives. Papers are invited that address the following questions: (1) What are the sources of racial and ethnic inequality in contemporary society? (2) How, why, and with what consequences do racial and ethnic prejudice and discrimination manifest themselves in social institutions and in everyday life? (3) What are the racial and ethnic dimensions and impact of the social problems studied by SSSP members? (4) Perhaps most important, what social programs and policies and political strategies, ranging from conventional political activity to protest tactics, offer the most hope for reducing racial and ethnic inequality?

The 2009 annual meeting in San Francisco will be an occasion both to celebrate the racial and ethnic diversity of our society and to reflect soberly on the color line that remains and the work that still needs to be done. President Barkan and the Program Committee invite your input, your participation, and, above all, your commitment to achieving a nation where, as Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. so memorably urged, people “will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.”

WELCOME TO SAN FRANCISCO, THE CITY BY THE BAY!

San Francisco is a wonderful city for visitors and locals alike. Summer in San Francisco is notoriously cold and foggy. Mark Twain reportedly once said, “The coldest winter I ever spent was a summer in San Francisco.” While it is debatable whether he actually said those words, it is certainly true that San Francisco is often quite cold during the summer. If it happens to be foggy during the SSSP meetings, don’t despair, just remember to bring a warm jacket, and dress for fall weather. The fog can be beautiful when viewed from outside, its dense character becoming even more evident. If you’d like to get a good look at the fog, go over the Golden Gate Bridge and enter into sunny Marin County. From the vantage point of Sausalito you are almost certain to leave the fog belt and can look back on the city. It is an amazing sight to see the city shrouded in fog, with the towers of the Golden Gate Bridge peaking out at the top.

Foggy days are also great days to visit Golden Gate Park. Two of our city’s newest museums are located on the Music Concourse – the Academy of Sciences and the De Young Art Museum. This LEED certified building is sure to impress even the most experienced environmentalist. Be sure to see the movie in the planetarium, walk through the tropical rain forest dome, and travel underwater in an elevator. A model of ecological sustainability, the building’s living roof and glass walls are amazing to behold. Across the concourse towers the copper sculpture of the De Young Art Museum. After you have gazed at the art, you can ride an elevator to the lookout level and get a bird’s eye view of the park stretching all the way down to the Pacific Ocean.

If we are lucky, you’ll be greeted to sun, and perhaps a light wind, during your visit. If it is sunny, head straight for the Presidio, our nation’s premier urban National Park, and walk along Crissy Field. Once an Army base, the Presidio National Park is home to the most amazing vistas this side of the bay. This is where the best pictures can be taken with views of the Golden Gate Bridge. If you are a Star Wars fan, be sure to find the life size statue of Yoda presiding over a fountain at the front of George Lucas’ campus.

On sunny days one of the most relaxing ways to view the city is from the water. If you have ½ a day, be sure to take a ferry onto the bay, heading north for Sausalito, Angel Island, and Alcatraz, or East towards Oakland. You will be treated to delightful views of the bridges, islands in the bay and the stunning city skyline.

Frisco, The City by the bay, is awaiting you. I hope to see you all at the 2009 SSSP meeting.

Chair, SSSP Local Arrangements Committee

WELCOME TO THE CITY!
The Graduate Student Version

Sourdough, Santana, Cable Cars, Fog, Harvey Milk
Welcome to San Francisco! Prior to my attendance in the Sociology Program at UC-San Francisco, I had never visited the city before and did not know what to expect. My undergraduate advisors described it as, “…a progressive place, with bubbling social activity.” After living here for six years, I can only confirm their description. Hopefully, you will leave San Francisco feeling the same way.

Although San Francisco is not comparable in size to New York or Los Angeles, it has a rich history, good food, and great energy that cannot be matched anywhere in the United States. However, the weather here during the summertime is chilly and windy, so please bring a light jacket and a sweater.

Getting Around San Francisco
Do not worry about getting around San Francisco and its neighboring cities. First, this is a walking city. To get the most out of your experience walk through the neighborhoods. Do not walk in dress shoes. During my first few days in San Francisco I had to trade-in my stilettos for sneakers because of the hills. If you are walking between the ASA Meetings and the hotel, just keep your nice shoes in your SSSP tote and change when you arrive.

If you plan on visiting the tourist attractions outside of Nob Hill, where the Stanford Court Hotel is located, I would recommend buying a 1-Day or 3-Day SF Muni City Passport. The City Passport is a bus pass that provides you with unlimited access to all MUNI transit. With a City Passport you can ride the cable cars and the 74X Culture Bus for an additional $3. All three cable car routes (California, Powell-Hyde, and Powell-Mason) have stops outside the Stanford Court Hotel. The Powell Lines heading north will take you to Chinatown, North Beach, and Fisherman’s Wharf. At Fisherman’s Wharf you can go see the Sea Lions bark, honk, and trumpet.

Cities in the East Bay, including Oakland and Berkeley, are only a thirty-five minute BART ride from Downtown. The BART, or Bay Area Rapid Transit is a train system that takes you throughout cities in the Bay Area. I would recommend sparing a few hours to visit Berkeley. If you get off the Downtown Berkeley stop and head east, you will arrive to the UC-Berkeley campus. I recommend visiting Moe’s on Telegraph Avenue. It’s a three-story, local bookstore with a great selection of social theory. If you do not want to carry books in your carry-on, then just visit Berkeley for its warmer weather.

Around the Stanford Court Hotel and its Neighboring Areas
There are several hidden attractions close to the Stanford Court Hotel. One is the Tunnel Top, which is a bar that sits on top of the Stockton Tunnel at Bush Street. They also serve coffee and beverages for those who just want to mingle. The Tunnel Top, like many local businesses in San Francisco, only accepts cash. So, make sure to carry some with you.

Another gem by the Stanford Court Hotel is the Glide Memorial Church, close to the ASA Meetings. Religions aside, consider attending a Glide service. Their services are considered a celebration of life that is felt through the powerful music provided by the Glide Ensemble. During the 1960s, the Glide Memorial Church was also instrumental in establishing ethnic studies and affirmative action at San Francisco State University. Services take place at 9:00am and 11:00am. Get there half an hour early for seats.
Golden Gate Park—One Stop Tourism

If you only have one day to enjoy San Francisco, I would recommend visiting the Golden Gate Park, which is accessible via the N-Judah line and 74X Culture Bus. This grand park has a museum campus, a Japanese Tea Garden, and beautiful trails. The best part about the Golden Gate Park is that it is adjacent to the Inner Sunset District which has cheap restaurants all along 9th Avenue.

One place that I would highly recommend that you visit is the Arizmendi Bakery. The Arizmendi Bakery is a worker-owned cooperative that stemmed from the Cheeseboard Collective in Berkeley. They have uniquely, delicious pizzas made from organic ingredients, as well as rustic treats and cheeses. Check out their bread schedule at: www.arizmendibakery.org.

In the end…

One of the goals of the Society is “…to encourage the work of young sociologists.” After becoming fascinated by some of the sights, you may be tempted to create a dissertation proposal that is based out of San Francisco. If you are trying to brainstorm ideas, I recommend heading to Caffè Trieste in North Beach. Here, you can find local politicians discussing new ordinances or local artists writing poetry.

Another great café worth visiting is the Crossroads Café in SoMa, which has a bookstore and delicious sandwiches. Crossroads Café is part of the Delancey Street Foundation, which strives to provide vocational skills and education to ex-convicts.

Although I know that most of you are participating in the Society’s annual meeting to present your research or meet progressive scholars, I hope that you also take this opportunity to have some fun. You may possibly find intellectual stimulation, and spiritual inspiration in unexpected places. Enjoy!

Airín D. Martínez, Doctoral Candidate in Sociology
University of California—San Francisco

Information/Traveler’s Aid booths to assist travelers are located on the upper and lower levels of all terminals. Booth personnel can provide accessibility information. TTY’s are located at these booths and throughout the airport boarding areas. Visual paging systems are in place throughout the terminals. Public telephones accessible to people in wheelchairs are located in the airport terminals and parking garages.

The Oakland International Airport (OAK), www.oaklandairport.com, is smaller than SFO and is easy to navigate. All the major airlines have ramped jetways from the plane to the terminal. Direct access to downtown San Francisco is available via the BART system.

Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART). BART train service in San Francisco primarily serves the downtown area, the Mission District, and the San Francisco International Airport. It also serves the Oakland International Airport. All BART trains are accessible.

BART tickets can be purchased at all stations; however, if you want a Disabled Discount Pass, you must order the pass online or go to the Customer Service Center at the Lake Merritt, Montgomery, or Civic Center stations. All BART stations are equipped with elevators. There is level access onto all trains; however, there can be a large gap between the platform and the train. This may be a problem for some wheelchairs with small form wheels. You may wish to back on and off the trains. All platforms have tactile edges for detection by people who are blind or visually impaired. Announcements are made informing you which train has arrived. Conductors also announce each stop on board the train.

Municipal Transit (MUNI). MUNI operates buses, streetcars, light rail, and cable cars. All lines are accessible except the 41. The MUNI metro system is accessible at all underground stations and at numerous surface key stops at major destinations and transfer points. Buses are boarded using lifts, while light rail vehicles may be boarded on the surface from high station platforms, mini-high wayside platforms or wayside lifts.

MUNI’s streetcar line, the F-line, is wheelchair accessible at most stops. All other cable cars are not wheelchair accessible. Manual wheelchair users who are accompanied by someone who can load the wheelchair onto the cable car may ride. Note cable car operators are not required to assist with wheelchair loading.

TRAVEL ARRANGEMENTS

The Association Travel Concepts (ATC) is the official travel coordinator for the 2009 Annual Meeting. Special discounts are available on United, Enterprise, and Hertz. FILM EXHIBIT SCHEDULE

Saturday, August 8
The Stanford Court Hotel
Room: Nob Hill

This year’s film exhibit is organized by Program Committee member Michelle A. Harris, Northern Arizona University.

12:30pm – 2:10pm

UNNATURAL CAUSES: IS INEQUALITY MAKING US SICK?

Unnatural Causes investigates our huge and alarming socio-economic disparities in health. It suggests that there is more to our health than bad habits, health care, or unlucky genes. The social conditions to which we are born, live and work profoundly affects our well being and longevity.

Larry Adelman, creator and executive producer will introduce the film and answer questions following the screening. Adelman is co-director and head of production for California Newsreel, the country’s oldest non-profit, documentary production and distribution center.

2:30pm – 4:10pm

CLUB NATIVE

Club Native raises critical questions about belonging and idenity, the heartbreak of “marrying out” of the Mohawk Nation, and the unjust patriarchal laws that disenfranchise Native women. It is a candid and engrossing work about the pain, confusion, and frustration suffered by many First Nations women, but also a testament to the triumph of love and the resilience of the human spirit.

4:30pm – 6:10pm

TULIA, TEXAS

Through its scrupulous investigation of a landmark case, Tulia, Texas, uncovers the deep-rooted assumptions about race and crime that still permeate our society and undermines our justice system. The film convincingly shows how the “war on drugs” has become a war on due process, waged against African Americans. Today, America has the largest prison population in the world; in some states, as much as 15 percent of the black male population is incarcerated. Tulia, Texas shows one reason why.

Kelly Whalen and Cassandra Herrman, co-directors and co-producers, will introduce the film and answer questions following the screening. Kelly has produced other notable PBS documentaries such as “The Fire Next Time,” and “Not in Our Town: When Hate Happens Here,” both of which document community responses to hate, intolerance and the threat of violence.

Cassandra Herrman photographed Tulia, Texas. Cassandra’s other work includes films on immigration, juvenile justice and civil rights. She has produced numerous films for the PBS series FRONTLINE/World and her film “American Exile,” about an exiled American Black Panther leader screened at Sundance in 2002.

*Session 77: Film Exhibit - Tulia, Texas
Room: SCH-Nob Hill

Sponsor: Program Committee

Organizer & Presider: Michelle A. Harris, Northern Arizona University

Description:

Through its scrupulous investigation of a landmark case, Tulia, Texas, uncovers the deep-rooted assumptions about race and crime that still permeate out society and undermines our justice system. The film convincingly shows how the ‘war on drugs’ has become a war on due process, waged against African Americans. Today, America has the largest prison population in the world; in some states, as much as 15 percent of the black male population is incarcerated. Tulia, Texas shows one reason why.

Kelly Whalen and Cassandra Herrman, co-directors and co-producers, will introduce the film and answer questions following the screening. Kelly has produced other notable PBS documentaries such as “The Fire Next Time,” and “Not in Our Town: When Hate Happens Here,” both of which document community responses to hate, intolerance and the threat of violence.

Cassandra Herrman photographed Tulia, Texas. Cassandra’s other work includes films on immigration, juvenile justice and civil rights. She has produced numerous films for the PBS series FRONTLINE/World and her film “American Exile,” about an exiled American Black Panther leader screened at Sundance in 2002.

Description:

In this interactive workshop you will learn how to maximize your conference experience by designing presentations that are effective for a broader spectrum of audience members. This goal will be accomplished by utilizing principles of Universal Instructional Design (UID). UID means that, rather than designing your instruction for the ‘average’ student or audience member, you design for potential students with a broad range in ability, age, reading level, learning style, native language, race, ethnicity, and other characteristics. This will be a hands-on workshop that will enable you to apply these principles to your own teaching and presentations.

SSSP members engage in social justice work. The interdisciplinary perspectives and methods that activist scholars use to pursue social justice is the theme of the 2010 annual meeting in Atlanta, Georgia.

Social justice work is problem-driven scholarship that employs rigorous theory and research methods. Examples include work on human rights and civil rights; action research focused on injustices on the factory floor or in the courtroom; and the study of discrimination or violence which is directed at groups or individuals in local communities in the United States and throughout the wider world.

Explanation and understanding are the starting points, not the results, of social justice work. The most urgent and persistent social problems – war and violence, economic distress and poverty, inequalities, and unfair treatment of social groups – initiate social justice work, which changes the value or utility attributed to mainstream scholarship within the social sciences. Practitioners, all types of scholar activists, are not blinded by a favorite framework or the desire to produce papers directed only to academic specialists. Social justice and ways to achieve it, rather than intellectual struggles, are deemed to be the worthy battles.

Social justice workers are engaged within the community, whether local or global, yet they bring new ideas and new perspectives into the academy. Theory and practice are linked. The linkage occurs when scholars decide to understand why immigrant workers are forced to do ‘dirty work’ to care for their families, or when they struggle to understand militarism, or how diplomacy gone wrong can provoke a nuclear threat or interpersonal violence.

The 2010 meeting of the Society for the Study of Social Problems will feature presentations and thematic sessions on the work of social justice practitioners – those who organize or study social movements, those who look within and across organizations to see how community problems can be ameliorated, those who talk to persons who fight wars in other nations or wars within themselves. A number of workshops and panels on the scholarship of engagement and the classroom practices introducing students to social justice work are planned.

The many forms of social justice work will be featured. Protest movements, community studies, social change projects from within organizations, social action research, institutional ethnographies, comparative studies, and policy studies are examples. We will challenge social science dogma and celebrate the possibilities of a just world.
