Society for the Study
of Social Problems
In Pursuit of Social Justice

ABS
ASSOCIATION OF BLACK SOCIOLOGISTS

CO-SPONSORED VIRTUAL EVENT

The Executive Officers of the Association of Black Sociologists and the Society for the Study of Social Problems invite our members to attend a discussion on "The State of the State."

This is an open and informal event for our members to gather to discuss what's happening to sociologists and critical scholars on national, state, and local levels. We hope this event provides an opportunity to strategize and identify priorities in organizing future events that resource us as we proactively navigate this rapidly changing climate. We are organizing this virtual event to hold space to discuss ongoing challenges we are facing in our communities, including:

- Attacks on DEI initiatives, sociology and social justice curricula, and higher education as a whole
- Policing of undocumented students and workers, and surveillance of all immigrants
- Racist hostilities toward BIPOC students, workers, and scholars
- Legislation erasing trans people's existence
- Disappearing federal grants and databases

REGISTER NOW

TUESDAY MARCH 25, 3:00-4:00 PM (EASTERN TIME)

Questions?
Contact Loren Henderson (ABS) at loren@umbc.edu or Elroi J. Windsor (SSSP) at ewindsor@westga.edu.