

Virtual Permissions Policy

By participating as a presenter or audience member in this digital environment, you agree to be recorded. If you do not wish to be recorded, please do not participate.

Your participation in SSSP virtual sessions indicates consent to the following terms regarding aspects of the virtual session:

SSSP will record the presentations by video and audio. Any recordings may be made available after the meeting.

Presenters must have rights to the content in their presentation and thus give SSSP copyright permission to promote the materials and/or recording to SSSP websites and to SSSP accounts on third-party websites (including but not limited to Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, and LinkedIn). Presenters retain all ownership rights, including copyright, patents, trademarks, and other intellectual property of content uploaded to these sites.

Presenters have no right of approval, no claim for compensation, and no claim (including, without limitation, claims based upon invasion of privacy, defamation, or right of publicity) arising out of or in connection with, any use, editing, or use in any composite form. Presenters agree and acknowledge that in the event any claims of action arise with respect to their materials or any other actions related to participation in the conference, they act in sole and individual capacity and that SSSP does not assume liability for presenters and audience member actions.
